

Making The News In 18th Century France

Making The News In 18th Century France - Making the News examines the ways the news was created, looked at, understood, and consumed in 18th-century France. In particular, printed images helped people grasp ...An exploration of the phenomenon of news prints and printing in 18th-century France. It examines this phenomenon through a detailed and lively examination of 37 and mercantile exchanges with the Americas (New France ... Anti-establishment ideas fermented in 18th-century France in part ... Early modern France ...Paris in the 18th century was the second ... Under Louis XVI, the 18th century, new sections ... The cold wave paralyzes all of France, making it also impossible to ...